HIGH HOLIDAY SERVICE GUIDE

ROSH HASHANAH

ראש השנה

Making the High Holiday service easier to follow and understand...

Welcome to the Rosh Hashanah Service

Rosh Hashanah is the anniversary of the day on which G-d completed the creation of this world, by creating Adam and Eve, the first man and woman. Adam’s very first act was to proclaim the Almighty as King of the Universe. He called upon all creatures: Come, let us worship, bow down, and kneel before G-d, our maker. Each Rosh Hashanah, we too proclaim the Kingship of G-d, and reaffirm our commitment to serve Him.

Just as on the original Rosh Hashanah G-d created the world for the first time, so too each Rosh Hashanah He reconsiders and re-evaluates the quality of our relationship with Him, and creates our world anew.

The Holiday of Rosh Hashanah stirs the heart of every Jew. The Jewish New Year is a time of awe and solemnity. On this day we re-establish and intensify our relationship with G-d and are judged, together with all of mankind, for the coming year.

Throughout Rosh Hashanah, we are attuned to the holiness of the day. All our activities - praying in the synagogue, listening to the shofar, and partaking of festive meals - are imbued with an awareness of G-d's Majesty.

On Rosh Hashanah we stand united before the Almighty and pray for a year of health, prosperity and peace. The words we read in the Machzor, the special holiday prayer book, help us channel our thoughts and prayers upward, shaped by the stirring and incisive words of our great Sages. Our hearts are awakened to the awesome power of the day.

Rosh Hashanah means “head of the year.” Just as the head controls the entire body, so does Rosh Hashanah contain within it the potential for life, blessing and sustenance for the entire year. Our actions on Rosh Hashanah set the tone for the year to come. For this reason we are careful in all we think, say and do during these two days.

We pray that G-d, in turn, will grant us a good and sweet year. Our wishes for one another are reflected in the words which we say after services on the first night of Rosh Hashanah, L’Shana Tova Teichoteiv V’tzechatem – may you be inscribed and sealed for a good year.

We present this Rosh Hashanah Service Guide with the hope that it will enable a better understanding of the various prayers and the order of the service. It is hoped that this guide will serve to enhance your Synagogue experience.

Shana Tova.

1. Kaddish and Borchu	10	50	23	26

Borchu is recited standing, and with a special bow of the head in reverence to the One and Only G-d. After Borchu we may be seated.

2. The Shema (Hear, O Israel)	11	52	23	27
--------------------------------------	-----------	-----------	-----------	-----------

The Shema, the essence of our faith, is recited at this point. It is customary to cover our eyes with our right hand while reciting the first verse of the Shema, to promote deep concentration.

3. The Amidah	15	62	31	30
----------------------	-----------	-----------	-----------	-----------

We rise for the Amidah, the prayer in which we pour forth our requests to G-d. Before beginning the Amidah, we take three steps back, and then three steps forward as if approaching a king.

4. Concluding Prayers	19	78	39	34

We recite L'David Mizmor (By David, a Psalm), verse by verse following the Chazan.

This Psalm is dedicated to the majesty of G-d. With the creation of man, G-d became King; as one cannot be a king if He has no subjects to rule. Adam became G-d's first subject and he immediately proclaimed the sovereignty of the Creator: 'King of the Universe.'

For this reason this Psalm has been made an important part of the High Holiday prayers, as Rosh Hashanah is the anniversary of the creation of man, and of the Coronation of the King of kings.

5. Aleinu (It is incumbent upon us)	22	84	43	36
--	-----------	-----------	-----------	-----------

This prayer, composed by Joshua, expresses our duty to praise the Creator of the universe Whom we recognise as the sole Ruler of the Creation.

6. [Eve 1] Greeting for Rosh Hashanah	24	90	47	38

[Eve 1] It is customary to greet one another with the special greeting: "L'Shana Tova Tikateiv V'teichatem – May you be inscribed and sealed for a good year."

Customs for the Rosh Hashanah table

[Eve 1] It is customary to dip a piece of apple into honey following the Hamotzie (blessing over bread). A blessing and special prayer are recited.

[Eve 2] It is customary to eat a "new" fruit (not eaten yet this season) following the Kiddush, and the blessing Shehecheyanu is recited in addition to the blessing Ha-etz over the fruit.

Many families eat additional symbolic foods – such as Challah dipped in honey, honeyed carrots, pomegranates and the head of an animal or fish.

First Day Rosh Hashanah

Shacharit (morning) Service

7. Opening Prayers	63	220	133	59

The opening prayers are mostly devoted to the expression of thanks for G-d's help and grace.

8. Boruch She-omar (Blessed is He who spoke)	63	222	135	70
---	-----------	------------	------------	-----------

We rise before reciting, men gather the front two fringes of their prayer-shawl or tzitzit, and hold them in their right hand. We may be seated at the conclusion of this prayer.

9. Ashrei (Happy are those)	72	244	153	71
------------------------------------	-----------	------------	------------	-----------

The Psalm of Ashrei introduces a series of songs of praise, written by King David. We take a closer look at the beautiful world we live in, and offer praise to its Maker.

10. Vayevarech David (And David blessed)	76	252	161	75
---	-----------	------------	------------	-----------

Rise for a set of prayers recounting our exodus from Egypt and praising G-d for His deliverance. Remain standing until after section 7.

11. Hamelech (The King)	80	262	169	80
--------------------------------	-----------	------------	------------	-----------

Remain standing as the leader of the Shacharit service takes his place and begins a moving melody describing G-d sitting on His lofty throne.

12. Shir Hama-alot (A song of ascents)	-	264	169	81
---	---	------------	------------	-----------

Psalm 120 describes how G-d indeed answers us when we call out to Him in times of distress.

13. Kaddish and Borchu	81	266	171	82
-------------------------------	-----------	------------	------------	-----------

Borchu is recited standing, and with a special bow of the head in reverence to the One and Only G-d. After Borchu we may be seated.

14. The Shema (Hear O Israel)	88	290	195	86
--------------------------------------	-----------	------------	------------	-----------

In preparation for the Shema, men gather all four fringes of their prayer-shawl - The Shema, the essence of our faith, is then recited.

It is customary to cover our eyes with our right hand while reciting the first verse of the Shema, to promote deep concentration.

15. The Amidah	91	296	195	89
-----------------------	-----------	------------	------------	-----------

We rise for the Amidah, the prayer in which we pour forth our requests to G-d. We begin by taking three steps backwards and then three steps forwards, then stand with our feet together for this entire prayer.

16. The Chazan's Amidah Repetition	95	306	209	95
---	-----------	------------	------------	-----------

The Chazan is about to begin the "repetition of the Amidah", where he will represent us on High and ask G-d to bless us with all good things for the coming year.

We will be his back-up team, responding with "Amen" and joining in at various points, to add impetus to his prayers. Please remember that whenever the Ark is open, one should stand out of respect.

17. Yorayti (I am awe-stricken)	95	306	211	95
--	-----------	------------	------------	-----------

Today is the Day of Judgment, where G-d determines every detail of the coming year. The Chazan will represent us in front of the Supreme King. Before he begins, he will ask G-d's blessing to be successful in this sensitive mission.

18. Ot Chil (The awesome day of reckoning)	96	308	211	96
---	-----------	------------	------------	-----------

We all read the following paragraph silently. It describes how every being trembles as G-d judges us and plans the blessings or lack thereof, G-d forbid, for the New Year.

First Day Rosh Hashanah

Shacharit (morning) Service

	Adler	ArtScroll	Birnbaum	Chabad
19. Atah Hu Elohei-nu (You are our G-d)	98	314	217	98

The Chazan will start us off on this interactive prayer that describes G-d's attributes. We will read sets of two phrases each time in advance of the Chazan who will repeat it.

20. Ta-ir V'tari-a (Rise and sound)	99	316	239	98
--	-----------	------------	------------	-----------

We repeat the following stanzas after the Chazan.

21. Eider Vahod (With pleasure I declare)	100	320	241	99
--	------------	------------	------------	-----------

This next section is a song of praise to G-d, enumerating His manifold traits. The Chazan sings each line and we answer with the half-line refrain. Each segment is comprised of three lines. After each set of three lines, we read the sentence that follows.

22. Yishpot Teivel (He will judge)	104	326	247	100
---	------------	------------	------------	------------

We repeat the next two stanzas after the Chazan.

23. Ado-nai Melech (The L-rd is King)	105	328	225	101
--	------------	------------	------------	------------

Structured according to the Hebrew alphabet, the next piece invokes us to proclaim G-d's praises. The Chazan sings each segment and we answer with the refrain "The L-rd is King, the L-rd was King, the L-rd will be King forever and ever."

24. L'eil Orech Din (To the Al-mighty)	106	330	261	105
---	------------	------------	------------	------------

This section describes how G-d judges us during Rosh Hashanah. It is written in the order of the Hebrew alphabet. We repeat the first phrase after the Chazan. We then read the next two phrases and keep reciting two phrases each time ahead of the Chazan.

25. Kedushah	107	332	261	106

Kedushah is the prayer in which we sanctify G-d's name and declare Him to be Omnipresent. It is based on the scriptural description of the heavenly rendition of Kedushah by the Angels.

Stand with your feet close together for the Kedushah, which is said responsively (first Chazan then congregation).

Following the Kedushah, one may be seated. The Chazan continues the repetition of the Amidah.

26. Modim (We thankfully)	110	338	267	109
----------------------------------	------------	------------	------------	------------

Stand and say the small inset paragraph while bowing.

27. Avinu Malkeinu (Our Father, Our King)	111	384	271	110
--	------------	------------	------------	------------

A series of one line verses introduced by the words "Our Father, Our King" reflecting on our relationship with G-d. He is at once our King, and as such is in complete control and has absolute power over us, but nevertheless He is our father, denoting the compassion, love, care and mercy G-d extends to us, despite the fact that we may have erred from His dictates.

This theme, our two-pronged relationship to G-d, is central and integral to Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur, and is continuously reiterated throughout the High Holiday services.

28. Kaddish	113	388	275	111

We stand and respond "Amen" as indicated in the Machzor.

This concludes the repetition of the Amidah.

29. Shir Shel Yom (Song of the Day)	35	170	99	116
--	-----------	------------	-----------	------------

We read the Psalm that was said each day in the Holy Temple. A different Psalm is recited each day.

	Adler	ArtScroll	Birnbaum	Chabad
30. Removing Torah from the Ark	114	390	277	116

The removal of the Torahs from the Ark is preceded by the recitation of an extra prayer relating to the Holiness of this day. The Shelosh Esrai Middot – Thirteen Attributes of Mercy, the prayer that G-d taught Moses to recite to invoke His mercy and forgiveness following the sin of the golden calf. It is recited three times, followed by a personal supplication for spiritual and physical success and good health.

31. Torah Reading	117	402	287	119
--------------------------	------------	------------	------------	------------

The Torah Reading on the first day of Rosh Hashanah relates the miraculous birth of Isaac to Abraham and Sarah at the age of one hundred years and ninety years respectively. Sarah, as well as Rachel and Chanah, were all “remembered” and blessed with children on Rosh Hashanah. We too pray to be remembered and blessed on this special day of Remembrance. An added significance is the message of the continuity and eternity of our nation heralded by the birth of Isaac, the “next generation” of the Jewish People.

32. Maftir	120	412	293	121

The Maftir reading is from the portion of the Torah in which G-d commands us regarding the observances of Rosh Hashanah.

33. Hagbah – Lifting of the Torah	120	414	293	121
--	------------	------------	------------	------------

With the conclusion of the reading from the Torah, the Torah is lifted for all to see, and we recite Vzot Ha-torah (This is the Torah). This is the same Torah that Moses placed before the children of Israel. Nothing in it has changed. It is as relevant today as it was then.

34. Haftarah	121	416	296	122
---------------------	------------	------------	------------	------------

The first day's Haftarah describes the miraculous birth of Samuel the Prophet to his mother Chanah.

Shofar

The Mitzvah (commandment) to listen to the sound of the Shofar is a Torah obligation with no clear reason given. Nonetheless commentators have offered many explanations on the significance of this Mitzvah.

Rav Saadiah Gaon listed ten perspectives:

1. Rosh Hashanah is the anniversary of Creation, and therefore the anniversary of G-d being declared King over the world. The Shofar sound is associated with a regal coronation.
2. The Shofar sound is a reminder for repentance.
3. The Shofar sound reminds us of our commitment to the Torah, which was given with the sounding of the Shofar.
4. The Shofar sound is synonymous with the warnings of the Prophets.
5. The Shofar sound recalls the war cries of our enemies in destroying the Holy Temple, causing us to pray for its rebuilding.
6. The Shofar sound recalls the binding of Isaac, who was replaced on the altar by a ram (the source of the Shofar).
7. The Shofar sound arouses a sense of awe and reverence within us.
8. The Shofar sound reminds us of the Great Day of Judgement.
9. The Shofar sound reminds us of the great Shofar blast when Moshiach will arrive.
10. The Shofar sound strengthens our belief in the resurrection of the dead which will be accompanied by the blowing of a Shofar.

	Adler	ArtScroll	Birnbaum	Chabad
35. Preparatory Psalms	125	432	315	127

A selection of verses are recited, to pray for the removal of any hindrance to our performance of this monumental Mitzvah.

We begin with Lamnatzay-ach (To the choirmaster) which is recited seven times. We are thus repeating the word Elokim (G-d) 49 times, purifying the 49 levels of impurity, and thereby emerging worthy of a benevolent judgement.

We continue with Min Ha-maytzar (From out of distress). The Chazan recites these eight verses, one by one, and the congregation repeats after him. (The first letters of these verses combine to form the words Kra Satan, which, loosely translated, means "abolish the adversary." It is a kabbalistic formulation reserved for this awesome service.)

36. Blowing of the Shofar	127	436	317	127

The blessings are then recited by the Tokea – the one blowing the Shofar – to which the congregation responds "Amen." The first set of 30 Shofar sounds is then blown while the congregation stands in total silence.

It is imperative that no conversations take place unless directly related to the service, from the beginning of the Shofar blowing until the last set at the end of the Musaf service. Please help us enhance the service for all by adhering to this requirement.

The shofar is blown following a precise order. Each blast connotes a particular emotion.

The three types of blasts sounded are:

1. Tekiah – One long clear sound.
2. Shevarim – Three short length sounds.
3. Teruah – At least nine short sounds.

The long clear Tekiah blast, representing G-d's Kingship and dominion, combines with the Shevarim and/or Teruah sounds, representing our remorse at our inadequacies and failings.

The final Tekiah Gedolah – large Tekiah signifies a call to action to rectify the situation.

After the initial 30 sounds of the Shofar, the Tokea recites the three verses beginning with Ashrei Ha-am (Fortunate is the people) one by one, and we repeat after him. King David wrote in the above Psalm: "Fortunate is the people who know the sound of the Shofar." While it may be sufficient to just hear the sound of the Shofar, happy is he who knows and understands its message and meaning.

37. Ashrei (Happy are those)	128	440	319	128

The Psalm of Ashrei, written by King David offers praise to the creator according to the letters of the Alef Bet.

38. Returning the Torah to the Ark	129	440	321	129
---	------------	------------	------------	------------

The Chazan and Congregation chant while the Torah is carried from the Bimah (reading platform) back to the Ark.

First Day Rosh Hashanah

Musaf (additional) Service

	Adler	ArtScroll	Birnbaum	Chabad
39. Opening Prayer – Hineni (Here I am)	-	444	325	129

In this heartfelt prayer, the Chazan expresses his unworthiness to represent the Congregation before G-d, yet beseeches Him to accept his prayers on behalf of the Congregation.

Kaddish is chanted in an ancient melody.

40. The Musaf Amidah	130	448	327	130
-----------------------------	------------	------------	------------	------------

It is now time for the longest Amidah – or silent conversation with G-d – of the year.

We begin by taking three steps backwards and then three steps forwards, then stand with our feet together for this entire prayer.

All three major themes of Rosh Hashanah are examined in this prayer. Malchiyot (majesty) describes how G-d is our King; in Zichronot (memory), we call upon G-d to recall our merits; and Shofrot (symphony), describes the power of the Shofar.

At the conclusion of each of the above-mentioned sections, the Shofar will be sounded.

41. Repetition of the Musaf Amidah	142	470	349	139
---	------------	------------	------------	------------

The Chazan will now repeat the Amidah. This is an interactive experience and you should try to participate by answering “Amen”, reading the responsive sections marked ‘Congregation,’ and singing along where you can.

Please remember that whenever the Ark is open, one should stand out of respect.

42. Upad Mei-az (From of old...)	142	470	349	140
---	------------	------------	------------	------------

We read this paragraph quietly. It describes how Rosh Hashanah has been a special day since time immemorial.

43. Teifen B’machon (Turn in...)	143	472	351	140

Once again, we read the following paragraph quietly. In it, we ask G-d to view us with mercy and to accept our prayers.

44. El Emunah (O faithful G-d)	145	476	355	141
---------------------------------------	------------	------------	------------	------------

We repeat each of the following two stanzas after the Chazan.

45. Ometz Adirei (Even the mighty...)	-	-	-	141

We read this paragraph quietly.

It is a very moving piyut (poem) that describes how even the greatest spiritual giants in history could not stand up to the scrutiny of G-d’s judgement, much less so ourselves. However, it ends on a positive note: that G-d is not deterred by human shortcomings and will certainly grant us a good new year, even if we do not deserve it.

46. Melech Elyon (Exalted King...)	145	478	355	142
---	------------	------------	------------	------------

Rosh Hashanah is the day that we crown G-d as our king. The next section describes what a great King He is. We repeat the first stanza after the chazan and then each of the remaining stanzas ahead of him.

47. Unetaneh Tokef (Let us proclaim...)	146	480	361	144
--	------------	------------	------------	------------

This awe-inspiring and perhaps best known prayer of the High Holiday liturgy is attributed to Rabbi Amnon of Mainz (Germany), who was tortured at the hands of the bishop of Mainz for staying true to Judaism, and with his dying breath recited this prayer. Three days later he appeared to Rabbi Kalonymos ben Meshullam in a dream, and requested that he encourage all of Jewry and to insert this prayer into the Rosh Hashanah liturgy. Rabbi Amnon’s wish was carried out and soon it was also included in the Yom Kippur liturgy as well.

This prayer has three sections. It first describes the scene in heaven on this Day of Judgement; the total recollection of every action and individual attention to each person. The second part describes the uncertainty of life itself, both in terms of quantity of years lived and quality of life experienced. The third part proclaims G-d's patience in awaiting the repentance of each individual, and appeals to Him to consider our own helplessness to mitigate any harsh judgement.

The prayer is punctuated by our own declaration that the three ways to averting a severe judgement are Teshuva, Tefillah, Tzedakah – Repentance, Prayer and Charity. The level of sincerity involved when considering and deciding upon these factors is obviously the crucial issue for us on Rosh Hashanah. Are we ready to reconsider our ways and re-evaluate? Are we sincere and committed in our prayer? Do we really involve ourselves in communal and charitable works?

On this special day we have the unique, G-d given opportunity to change ourselves and advance our lives by focusing on these vital issues.

48. Kedushah	148	486	363	145

Kedushah is the prayer in which we sanctify G-d's name and declare Him to be Omnipresent. It is based on the scriptural description of the heavenly rendition of Kedusha by the Angels.

Stand with your feet close together for the Kedushah, which is said responsively (first Chazan then congregation).

Following the Kedushah, one may be seated. The Chazan continues the Amidah repetition.

49. Vechol Ma'aminim (And all believe...)	149	490	367	145
--	------------	------------	------------	------------

We stand and declare that we are "Ma'aminim B'nei Ma'aminim – believers, the children of believers." We proclaim our complete faith in G-d in this section. It is worth reflecting at this point on the extent of our own faith – whether we are guilty of only using G-d as the One to blame when things go wrong, or whether we have faith and trust in His supervision, guidance and direction of the world.

We will repeat the first phrase after the Chazan and then read sets of two phrases each ahead of the Chazan.

50. Repetition of the Amidah continues	151	494	371	146
---	------------	------------	------------	------------

You may be seated.

Over the next series of paragraphs, the Chazan expresses our wish that G-d be clearly realised by us as the Supreme King. He will also read an overview of the Rosh Hashanah offerings in the Temple.

51. Aleinu (It is incumbent...)	154	500	377	149

When we say Aleinu, we submit ourselves to G-d as subjects would to their King. To illustrate this, we prostrate ourselves to G-d during this prayer.

When you say the words "Va-anachnu Korim" (But, we bend the knee), you should kneel. At the word "Umishtachavim" (bow down), you should bend over so that your forehead touches the ground. Complete the sentence in this position, then stand for the remainder of the prayer.

Women may simply bow their heads if they prefer.

52. Malchiyot (Majesty)	156	506	379	150

This section describes G-d's kingship and dominion over creation.

G-d is the incomparable King of the Universe. The destiny of humanity is to come to this realization. Whereas human kings rule in accordance with the principle of: "might makes right," G-d is the Holy King, Who is, at the same time, beyond comparison in His power, "whatever He wills, He can do," yet He is also the Father of the orphan and the Judge of the widow, Who is always on the side of the powerless.

	Adler	ArtScroll	Birnbaum	Chabad
53. Shofar/Hayom Harat Olam (Today is...)	157	508	383	152

The Shofar is sounded, following which we all chant this paragraph, which describes Rosh Hashanah as the birthday of the world and the awesome day of judgement.

54. Zichronot (Memory)	158	510	385	152

In this section we ask G-d to remember us in a positive light.

We recognize that G-d is above Time, and the idea of "forgetting" does not apply to Him, nor is He limited in "understanding" the inner thoughts of His creatures. Nevertheless, we ask that He "remember" only the "good" in our behalf when He Judges us.

All of humanity, indeed the whole world, is Judged today, and we ask that He "remember" the faith of Noach who endured taunts and threats for 120 years while he built the Ark, and tried to explain its purpose to his wayward generation.

For the Jewish People in particular, we ask that He "remember" the early loyalty of our People, who followed Him as a bride, as He said "I remember your youthful devotion, the love of your bridal days, how you followed Me through the desert, in a barren land" (Yirmiyahu 2:2) and later as a precious child, "Is it because Ephraim is my favorite son, my beloved child? As often as I speak of him, I remember him fondly. My heart yearns for him, I will have pity on him, says the L-rd." (Yirmiyahu 31:19)

Most of all, we ask that He "remember" the supreme act of devotion performed by our fathers Avraham and Yitzhak, where Avraham suppressed his natural feelings of mercy towards his son, and was prepared to sacrifice him at the command of G-d, and Yitzhak was prepared to be sacrificed, thereby suppressing his natural feelings of self-preservation, in fulfillment of G-d's command. So should G-d suppress, so to speak, His Midat HaDin, His attribute of strict justice, which would require that we be punished for our misdeeds, in favour of His Midat HaRachamim, His attribute of mercy.

--	------------	------------	------------	------------

The Shofar is sounded, following which we all chant this paragraph, which describe that Rosh Hashanah is the time when G-d judges the world.

56. Shofrot (Symphony)	160	516	389	156

This section describes the power of the Shofar.

We recall the time that G-d revealed Himself on Mt. Sinai and gave us the Torah. "The whole world trembled at Your Presence, Creation shook in awe before You, when You, our King, did reveal Yourself on Mt. Sinai to give to Your People the Torah and its Commandments, letting them hear Your majestic voice, Your holy words out of flashes of fire. Amid thunder and lightening did You reveal Yourself to them, amid the sound of the Shofar did you appear to them."

The Shofar will be blown during the final battles of Israel with its enemies. It will be sounded when those in Exile will return. It will be sounded when the Temple will be rebuilt. It is the sound signifying the Presence of the majesty of G-d. We ask that it be sounded speedily with the arrival of the Moshiach.

57. Shofar/Hayom Harat Olam (Today is...)	162	520	393	158
--	------------	------------	------------	------------

The Shofar is sounded, following which we all chant this paragraph, which describe how on Rosh Hashanah G-d judges us either like children if we have been doing His Mitzvot, or as servants if we have not. Either way, we ask G-d to have mercy on us – like a loving father or a like a benevolent master.

58. Modim (We thankfully)	163	522	395	159
----------------------------------	------------	------------	------------	------------

Stand and say the small inset paragraph while bowing.

59. Birkat Kohanim (Priestly Blessing)	164	524	397	160

The Kohanim now bless the community. The Kohanim are the purveyors of peace and blessing from G-d to His people, and as such ascend to the platform by the Ark to recite the priestly blessing.

We avoid looking at the Kohanim at this time, however one should not turn their back to the Kohanim. Men may cover their face with their Tallit. Children often enjoy the special feeling of standing with their father underneath his Tallit. When the Kohanim conclude each of the verses, we answer "Amen."

As the Kohanim return to their places, it is customary to thank them with the words, "Yishar Koach" (may you have strength).

60. Hayom T'amtzeinu (On this day...)	166	532	405	161

We are about to conclude the Musaf prayer, confident that G-d has sealed us for a good year. We repeat the first phrase after the Chazan and then read one phrase ahead of him for the rest of this section.

After the Chazan says each phrase, we answer "Amen."

61. Kaddish	167	584	407	162
--------------------	------------	------------	------------	------------

We stand and respond "Amen" as indicated in the Machzor.

This concludes the repetition of the Amidah.

62. Ein Kelo-heinu (There is none...)	168	586	409	162
--	------------	------------	------------	------------

This closing prayer – using four different names to describe G-d – is recited to show our gratitude and thanks to G-d for answering our prayers.

63. Aleinu (It is incumbent upon us)	169	590	415	164
---	------------	------------	------------	------------

This prayer, composed by Joshua, expresses our duty to praise the Creator of the universe whom we recognise as the sole Ruler of the Creation.

Tehillim

It is customary to use any spare time on Rosh Hashanah to recite Psalms, entreating G-d to listen to our prayers.

64. Shofar	-	-	417	180
-------------------	----------	----------	------------	------------

It is customary to sound an additional 30 sounds of the Shofar in order to confuse the Satan – negative energies. In addition, it benefits those who may have missed the first 30 or the full 100 sounds.

65. Opening Prayers	63	220	133	59

The opening prayers are mostly devoted to the expression of thanks for G-d's help and grace.

66. Boruch She-omar (Blessed is He who spoke)	63	222	135	70
--	-----------	------------	------------	-----------

We rise before reciting, men gather the front two fringes of their prayer-shawl or tzitzit, and hold them in their right hand. We may be seated at the conclusion of this prayer.

67. Ashrei (Happy are those)	72	244	153	71
-------------------------------------	-----------	------------	------------	-----------

The Psalm of Ashrei introduces a series of songs of praise, written by King David. We take a closer look at the beautiful world we live in, and offer praise to its Maker.

68. Vayevarech David (And David blessed)	76	252	161	75
---	-----------	------------	------------	-----------

Rise for a set of prayers recounting our exodus from Egypt and praising G-d for His deliverance. Remain standing until after section 7.

69. Hamelech (The King)	176	262	169	80
--------------------------------	------------	------------	------------	-----------

Remain standing as the leader of the Shacharit service takes his place and begins a moving melody describing G-d sitting on His lofty throne.

70. Shir Ha-ma-a lot (A song of ascents)	-	264	169	81
---	---	------------	------------	-----------

Psalm 120 describes how G-d indeed answers us where we call out to Him in times of distress.

71. Kaddish and Borchu	177	266	171	82
-------------------------------	------------	------------	------------	-----------

Borchu is recited standing, and with a special bow of the head in reverence to the One and Only G-d. After Borchu we may be seated.

72. The Shema (Hear O Israel)	183	290	195	86
--------------------------------------	------------	------------	------------	-----------

In preparation for the Shema, men gather all four fringes of their prayer-shawl - The Shema, the essence of our faith, is then recited.

It is customary to cover our eyes with our right hand while reciting the first verse of the Shema, to promote deep concentration.

73. The Amidah	186	296	195	89
-----------------------	------------	------------	------------	-----------

We rise for the Amidah, the prayer in which we pour forth our requests to G-d.

74. The Chazan's Amidah Repetition	190	342	229	95
---	------------	------------	------------	-----------

The Chazan is about to begin the "repetition of the Amidah", where he will represent us on High and ask G-d to bless us with all good things for the coming year.

We will be his back-up team, responding with "Amen" and joining in at various points, to add impetus to his prayers.

Please remember that whenever the Ark is open, one should stand out of respect.

75. Atitie L'chananach (I have come to implore you)	190	342	229	95
--	------------	------------	------------	-----------

The Chazan prays to succeed in earning us a good year.

76. Imratchah Tz'rufah (Your utterance is pure)	191	344	231	96
--	------------	------------	------------	-----------

We read the following paragraph silently, asking G-d to remember the immense dedication that our forefather, Avraham, showed to Him. We pray to earn a blessed New Year in Avraham's merit.

77. Atah Hu (You are our G-d)	194	352	239	98

The Chazan will start us off on this interactive prayer that describes G-d's attributes. We will read sets of two phrases each time in advance of the Chazan who will repeat it.

78. Ta-ir V'tarie-ah (Rise and sound the Shofar)	195	354	-	98
---	------------	------------	---	-----------

Repeat each of the following segments after the Chazan.

79. Eider Vahod (With pleasure I declare)	196	356	241	99
--	------------	------------	------------	-----------

This next section is a song of praise to G-d, enumerating His manifold traits. The Chazan sings each line and we answer with the half-line refrain. Each segment is comprised of three lines. After each set of three lines, we read the sentence that follows.

80. Adon Im Maasim (Master...)	201	366	251	100
---------------------------------------	------------	------------	------------	------------

We repeat the next two stanzas after the Chazan.

81. Melech Elyon (Exalted King)	201	366	251	101
--	------------	------------	------------	------------

We will now describe the greatness of the Supreme Monarch, each time echoing that He will reign forever. We will repeat the first stanza after the chazan and then say one stanza ahead of him for the remainder of this prayer.

82. Hashem Melech (G-d is King)	203	370	255	103
--	------------	------------	------------	------------

We read how the celestial beings praise G-d's greatness. The Chazan sings each segment and we answer with the refrain "The L-rd is King, the L-rd was King, the L-rd will be King forever and ever".

83. Kedushah	205	374	261	106

Kedushah is the prayer in which we sanctify G-d's name and declare Him to be Omnipresent. It is based on the scriptural description of the heavenly rendition of Kedushah by the Angels.

Stand with your feet close together for the Kedushah, which is said responsively (first Chazan then congregation). Following the Kedushah, one may be seated. The Chazan continues the Amidah repetition.

84. Modim (We thankfully)	208	380	267	109
----------------------------------	------------	------------	------------	------------

Stand and say the small inset paragraph while bowing.

85. Avinu Malkeinu (Our Father, Our King)	210	384	271	110
--	------------	------------	------------	------------

A series of one line verses introduced by the words "Our father, Our King" reflecting on our relationship with G-d. He is at once our King, and as such is in complete control and has absolute power over us, but nevertheless He is our father, denoting the compassion, love, care and mercy G-d extends to us, despite the fact that we may have erred from His dictates.

This theme, our two-pronged relationship to G-d, is central and integral to Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur, and is continuously reiterated throughout the High Holiday services.

86. Kaddish	212	388	275	111
--------------------	------------	------------	------------	------------

We stand and respond "Amen" as indicated in the Machzor.

This concludes the repetition of the Amidah.

87. Shir Shel Yom (Song of the Day)	35	170	91	112
--	-----------	------------	-----------	------------

We read the Psalm that was said each day in the Holy Temple. Each day of the week a different Psalm is read.

88. Removing Torah from the Ark	213	390	277	116

The removal of the Torahs from the Ark, is preceded by the recitation of an extra prayer relating to the Holiness of this day: The Shelosh Esrai Middot – Thirteen Attributes of Mercy, the prayer that G-d taught Moses to recite to invoke His mercy and forgiveness following the sin of the golden calf. It is recited three times, followed by a personal supplication for spiritual and physical success and good health.

89. Torah Reading	216	402	299	119
--------------------------	------------	------------	------------	------------

The Reading on the second day is the Torah's account of the Akedah – Binding of Isaac, demonstrating Abraham's and Isaac's readiness to make any sacrifice to fulfill G-d's command. This event took place on Rosh Hashanah, and the merit of this supreme act of devotion is invoked throughout the service, as G-d rewarded this episode with a promise of the perpetual continuity of Abraham's offspring.

90. Maftir	219	412	305	121
-------------------	------------	------------	------------	------------

The Maftir reading from the portion of the Torah in which G-d commands us regarding the observances of Rosh Hashanah.

91. Lifting of the Torah	218	414	305	121
---------------------------------	------------	------------	------------	------------

With the conclusion of the reading from the Torah, the Torah is lifted for all to see, and we recite Vzot Ha-torah (This is the Torah). This is the same Torah that Moses placed before the children of Israel. Nothing in it has changed. It is as relevant today as it was then.

92. Haftarah	219	416	305	122
---------------------	------------	------------	------------	------------

The second day's Haftarah relates G-d's promise to redeem His children and fits in with the theme of Remembrance.

Shofar

The Mitzvah (commandment) to listen to the sound of the Shofar is a Torah obligation with no clear reason given. Nonetheless commentators have offered many explanations on the significance of this Mitzvah.

Rav Saadiah Gaon listed ten perspectives:

11. Rosh Hashanah is the anniversary of Creation, and therefore the anniversary of G-d being declared King over the world. The Shofar sound is associated with a regal coronation.
12. The Shofar sound is a reminder for repentance.
13. The Shofar sound reminds us of our commitment to the Torah, which was given with the sounding of the Shofar.
14. The Shofar sound is synonymous with the warnings of the Prophets.
15. The Shofar sound recalls the war cries of our enemies in destroying the Holy Temple, causing us to pray for its rebuilding.
16. The Shofar sound recalls the binding of Isaac, who was replaced on the altar by a ram (the source of the Shofar).
17. The Shofar sound arouses a sense of awe and reverence within us.
18. The Shofar sound reminds us of the Great Day of Judgement.
19. The Shofar sound reminds us of the great Shofar blast when Moshiach will arrive.
20. The Shofar sound strengthens our belief in the resurrection of the dead which will be accompanied by the blowing of a Shofar.

93. Preparatory Psalms	222	432	315	127

A selection of verses are recited, to pray for the removal of any hindrance to our performance of this monumental Mitzvah.

We begin with Lamnatzay-ach (To the choirmaster) which is recited seven times. We are thus repeating the word Elokim (G-d) 49 times, purifying the 49 levels of impurity, and thereby emerging worthy of a benevolent judgment.

We continue with Min Ha-maytzar (From out of distress). The Chazan recites these eight verses, one by one, and the congregation repeats after him. (The first letters of these verses combine to form the words Kra Satan, which, loosely translated, means "abolish the adversary." It is a kabbalistic formulation reserved for this awesome service.)

94. Blowing of the Shofar	224	436	317	127
----------------------------------	------------	------------	------------	------------

The blessings are then recited by the Tokea – the one blowing the Shofar – to which the congregation responds "Amen." The first set of 30 Shofar sounds is then blown while the congregation stands in total silence.

It is imperative that no conversations take place unless directly related to the service, from the beginning of the Shofar blowing until the last set at the end of the Musaf service. Please help us enhance the service for all by adhering to this requirement.

The shofar is blown following a precise order. Each blast connotes a particular emotion.

The three types of blasts sounded are:

4. Tekiah – One long clear sound.
5. Shevarim – Three short length sounds.
6. Teruah – At least nine short sounds.

The long clear Tekiah blast, representing G-d's Kingship and dominion, combines with the Shevarim and/or Teruah sounds, representing our remorse at our inadequacies and failings.

The final Tekiah Gedolah – large Tekiah signifies a call to action to rectify the situation.

After the initial 30 sounds of the Shofar, the Tokea recites the three verses beginning with Ashrei Ha-am (Fortunate is the people) one by one, and we repeat after him. King David wrote in the above Psalm: "Fortunate is the people who know the sound of the Shofar." While it may be sufficient to just hear the sound of the Shofar, happy is he who knows and understands its message and meaning.

95. Ashrei (Happy are those)	224	440	319	128
-------------------------------------	------------	------------	------------	------------

The Psalm of Ashrei, written by King David offers praise to the creator according to the letters of the Alef Bet.

96. Returning the Torah to the Ark	225	440	321	129
---	------------	------------	------------	------------

The Chazan and Congregation chant while the Torah is carried from the Bimah (reading platform) back to the Ark.

97. Opening Prayer – Hineni (Here I am)	-	444	325	129

In this heartfelt prayer, the Chazan expresses his unworthiness to represent the Congregation before G-d, yet beseeches Him to accept his prayers on behalf of the Congregation.

Kaddish is chanted in an ancient melody.

98. The Musaf Amidah	227	448	327	130
-----------------------------	------------	------------	------------	------------

The Amidah is the time we stand submissive to G-d, conversing silently, while standing at attention.

We start by taking three steps backwards and then three steps forwards, as if we were walking into the Divine throne-room.

Included in this prayer are the three major concepts: Malchiyot, reminding us to accept G-d as our King; Zichronot, reminding G-d that we are His people; and Shofrot, explaining how the Shofar calls us to remember our responsibilities to Him.

At the conclusion of each of the above-mentioned sections, the Shofar will be sounded.

99. Repetition of the Musaf Amidah	238	536	359	139
---	------------	------------	------------	------------

No Jew is an island. Although the Chazan leads this next part of the service, he doesn't do so alone. Our role is to answer "Amen" aloud and join in at the relevant times.

Today's repetition is somewhat shorter than yesterdays.

Please remember that whenever the Ark is open, one should stand out of respect.

100. L'eil Orech Din (To the Al-mighty)	205	538	-	142
--	------------	------------	---	------------

This section describes how G-d judges us during Rosh Hashanah. It is written in the order of the Hebrew alphabet. We repeat the first phrase after the Chazan. We then read the next two phrases and keep saying two phrases at a time ahead of the Chazan.

101. Unetaneh Tokef (Let us proclaim...)	146	538	361	144

This awe-inspiring and perhaps best known prayer of the High Holiday liturgy is attributed to Rabbi Amnon of Mainz (Germany), who was tortured at the hands of the bishop of Mainz for staying true to Judaism, and with his dying breath recited this prayer. Three days later he appeared to Rabbi Kalonymos ben Meshullam in a dream, and requested that he encourage all of Jewry and to insert this prayer into the Rosh Hashanah liturgy. Rabbi Amnon's wish was carried out and soon it was also included in the Yom Kippur liturgy as well.

This prayer has three sections. It first describes the scene in heaven on this Day of Judgement; the total recollection of every action and individual attention to each person. The second part describes the uncertainty of life itself, both in terms of quantity of years lived and quality of life experienced. The third part proclaims G-d's patience in awaiting the repentance of each individual, and appeals to Him to consider our own helplessness to mitigate any harsh judgement.

The prayer is punctuated by our own declaration that the three ways to averting a severe judgement are Teshuva, Tefillah, Tzedakah – Repentance, Prayer and Charity. The level of sincerity involved when considering and deciding upon these factors is obviously the crucial issue for us on Rosh Hashanah. Are we ready to reconsider our ways and re-evaluate? Are we sincere and committed in our prayer? Do we really involve ourselves in communal and charitable works?

On this special day we have the unique, G-d given opportunity to change ourselves and advance our lives by focusing on these vital issues.

102. Kedushah	148	542	363	145
----------------------	------------	------------	------------	------------

Kedushah is the prayer in which we sanctify G-d's name and declare Him to be Omnipresent. It is based on the scriptural description of the heavenly rendition of Kedusha by the Angels.

Stand with your feet close together for the Kedushah, which is said responsively (first Chazan then congregation).

Following the Kedushah, one may be seated. The Chazan continues the repetition of the Amidah.

103. Vechol Ma'aminim (And all believe...)	149	546	367	145
---	------------	------------	------------	------------

We stand and declare that we are "Ma'aminim B'nei Ma'aminim – believers, the children of believers." We proclaim our complete faith in G-d in this section. It is worth reflecting at this point on the extent of our own faith – whether we are guilty of only using G-d as the One to blame when things go wrong, or whether we have faith and trust in His supervision, guidance and direction of the world.

We will repeat the first phrase after the Chazan and then read sets of two phrases each ahead of the Chazan.

104. Repetition of the Amidah continues	151	550	371	146
--	------------	------------	------------	------------

You may be seated.

Over the next series of paragraphs, the Chazan expresses our wish that G-d be clearly realised by us as the Supreme King. He will also read an overview of the Rosh Hashanah offerings in the Temple.

105. Aleinu (It is incumbent...)	154	554	377	149
---	------------	------------	------------	------------

When we say Aleinu, we submit ourselves to G-d as subjects would to their King. To illustrate this, we prostrate ourselves to G-d during this prayer.

When you say the words "Va-anachnu Korim" (But, we bend the knee), you should kneel. At the word "Umishtachavim" (bow down), you should bend over so that your forehead touches the ground. Complete the sentence in this position, then stand for the remainder of the prayer.

Women may simply bow their heads if they prefer.

106. Malchiyot (Majesty)	156	558	381	150
---------------------------------	------------	------------	------------	------------

This section describes G-d's kingship and dominion over creation.

G-d is the incomparable King of The Universe. The destiny of humanity is to come to this realization. Whereas human kings rule in accordance with the principle of: "might makes right," G-d is the Holy King, Who is, at the same time, beyond comparison in His power, "whatever He wills, He can do," yet He is also the Father of the orphan and the Judge of the widow, Who is always on the side of the powerless.

He is the incorruptible and righteous judge of the world, who favours no one, and cannot be bribed. He is the true G-d and His word, the Torah, is true and eternal.

107. Shofar/Hayom Harat Olam (Today is...)	157	562	383	152
---	------------	------------	------------	------------

We all chant these two paragraphs, which describe Rosh Hashanah as the birthday of the world.

108. Zichronot (Memory)	158	562	385	152
--------------------------------	------------	------------	------------	------------

In this section we ask G-d to remember us in a positive light.

We recognize that G-d is above Time, and the idea of "forgetting" does not apply to Him, nor is He limited in "understanding" the inner thoughts of His creatures. Nevertheless, we ask that He "remember" only the "good" in our behalf when He Judges us.

All of humanity, indeed the whole world, is Judged today, and we ask that He “remember” the faith of Noach who endured taunts and threats for 120 years while he built the Ark, and tried to explain its purpose to his wayward generation.

For the Jewish People in particular, we ask that He "remember" the early loyalty of our People, who followed Him as a bride, as He said "I remember your youthful devotion, the love of your bridal days, how you followed Me through the desert, in a barren land" (Yirmiyahu 2:2) and later as a precious child, "Is it because Ephraim is my favorite son, my beloved child? As often as I speak of him, I remember him fondly. My heart yearns for him, I will have pity on him, says the L-rd." (Yirmiyahu 31:19)

Most of all, we ask that He "remember" the supreme act of devotion performed by our fathers Avraham and Yitzchak, when Avraham suppressed his natural feelings of mercy towards his son, and was prepared to sacrifice him at the command of G-d, and Yitzchak was prepared to be sacrificed, thereby suppressing his natural instinct of self-preservation, in fulfillment of G-d's command. So should G-d suppress, so to speak, His Midat HaDin, His attribute of strict justice, which would require that we be punished for our misdeeds, in favour of His Midat HaRachamim, His attribute of mercy.

---	------------	------------	------------	------------

We all chant these two paragraphs, which describe that Rosh Hashanah is the time when G-d judges the world.

110. Shofrot (Symphony)	160	568	389	156
--------------------------------	------------	------------	------------	------------

This section describes the power of the Shofar.

We recall the time that G-d revealed Himself on Mt. Sinai and gave us the Torah. "The whole world trembled at Your Presence, Creation shook in awe before You, when You, our King, did reveal Yourself on Mt. Sinai to give to Your People the Torah and its Commandments, letting them hear Your majestic voice, Your holy words out of flashes of fire. Amid thunder and lightening did You reveal Yourself to them, amid the sound of the Shofar did you appear to them."

The Shofar will be blown during the final battles of Israel with its enemies. It will be sounded when those in Exile will return. It will be sounded when the Temple will be rebuilt. It is the sound signifying the Presence of the majesty of G-d. We ask that it be sounded speedily with the arrival of the Moshiach.

111. Shofar/Hayom Harat Olam (Today is...)	162	570	393	158
---	------------	------------	------------	------------

We all chant these two paragraphs, which describes how on Rosh Hashanah G-d judges us either like children if we have been doing His Mitzvot, or as servants if we have not. Either way, we ask G-d to have mercy on us – like a loving father or a like a benevolent master.

112. Modim (We thankfully)	163	572	395	159
-----------------------------------	------------	------------	------------	------------

Stand and say the small inset paragraph while bowing.

113. Birkat Kohanim (Priestly Blessing)	164	574	399	160
--	------------	------------	------------	------------

The Kohanim now bless the community. The Kohanim are the purveyors of peace and blessing from G-d to His people, and as such ascend to the platform by the Ark to recite the priestly blessing.

We avoid looking at the Kohanim at this time, however one should not turn their back to the Kohanim. Men may cover their face with their Tallit. Children often enjoy the special feeling of standing with their father underneath his Tallit. When the Kohanim conclude each of the verses, we answer “Amen.”

As the Kohanim return to their places, it is customary to thank them with the words, “Yishar Koach” (may you have strength).
